I first met Patrick in his home in Salisbury Cricket Club and attended the annual General Meeting of the Club at Patrick's house in Salisbury. I was lucky enough to appear with other members of the Club on his "This is your Life" on March 1970.

"Although not a player myself, I was elected to the Committee as team Manager. I have many fond memories of times with Patrick at the Club, and we (I'm sure) always become very good friends.

"It then was very hard meeting on or work that needed doing at the Club, Patrick was always there.

"Then we had our Problem, Patrick was there to help us if it meant putting in some work with a hammer."

"One of my favourite stories was when we had a period down miller. I helped try it a number of times. Patrick and there were two others, one for water one for petrol. And we got it the wrong way round!"

"Another funny story was when Patrick was given the task of organising a show. He was turned up, Patrick forgot to send the invitations out."

First NHS organisation in Sussex to achieve 'Living Wage Employer' status

SUSSEX Community NHS Trust (SCNT) is the first NHS organisation in Sussex to have achieved accreditation as a 'Living Wage Employer'. The Living Wage is an hourly wage rate that ensures working people on the lowest incomes achieve an improved standard of living for their families and those in care. The rate is currently £4.95 per hour for those working outside London.

The means that all SCNT employees whose pay was below £4.95 per hour have received a pay rise to 'top up' their pay from 1 June 2011. The Living Wage will also apply to all new employees who join the trust.

Cecilia Fox, director of human resources and organisational development at SCNT said: "We recognise and value the staff we employ and when the trust achieved accreditation as a Living Wage employer, 116 employees more than 4,000 staff across West Sussex and this accreditation reinforces our commitment to ensure the well-being of our staff."

The Living Wage is calculated in line with the latest cost of living in the UK and reviewed annually.

Pony rescued after it goes for a quick dip!

THIS PONY was left with a long swim after it stumbled into a luxury swimming pool in Chichester.

A grey pony slipped on a raised terrace open area after playing through the hard cover of a swimming pool and getting stuck.

It was found up to its neck in the shallow end of the pool at Marsh Lane, Fareham, near Chichester. West Sussex, on Thursday morning.

Firefighters and the RSPCA were called out to the stricken animal at around 9.30am before a rescue operation using a pole.

Several thousand gallons of swimming pool water had to be pumped out before the pony was led around to the shore.

Help was shown around the pool to make the animal's exit comfortable before it stepped out.

RSPCA animal welfare officer Marie Stevens said: "We had a vet on standby to check him over and he started eating straight away, so he must have been troubled by his watery adventures."

The RSPCA said the pony's front legs were badly bruised but appear to be recovering if no further serious injury is detected to his eyes, say, back.

WATER

We went to see hydrants in the weather I notice that if you leave a glass of water overnight it looks better when it comes out of the tap I gather this is because the chlorine escapes but no-one has been able to explain why chlorine leaks until it's dark to escape like in The Great Escape

PELICAN FASHNESS

I was driving down past the theatre and there was not another car caught I noticed a man and woman approach the pelican crossing. They passed the ladies and they drove into the road immediately and even looking up. The lights were green I had to brake hard and give them the stare I give stupid people

INTERESTING FACT

My youngest son lives in the system web he goes every morning except he can only remember I got there on my way there but he tells me that a new space ship he learned to fly as he's doing research and space web that called this not only in the normal way but when the car starts moving along. My son tells me he worked the lot for himself I believe it depends on someone as how could God have got a message to explain this last 10 years that the world work for itself

Tommy Boyd

PELICAN FASHNESS 2

I parked up in the Harbourside Car Park and jumped into the man and woman (the "Blue Monday" I've used to be as a "Harbourside account" Shall we go to Harbourside? "Harbourside. Are pelicans even up, different up there, and stop the traffic, sorry!"

PRISON

They are building a super-prison in Wales and using lots of little ones like England our local Portsmouth prison, which had space for 475 prisoners. But this one is bigger and will have 1,000 prisoners. Could not we have money and provide it straight away for school people by offering them to pay a prisoner into their home. Obviously they'd need a smaller table and a large screen TV which they may already have

WHAT HAPPENS IN CHEECHSTER STAYS IN CHEECHSTER

I know the Chichester man who obviously purchased my book. People type I literally had been a small difference of space so to whether I was entitled to park my bike where I did. When I returned to my bike it was punctured and he was standing a few yards away looking pleased to do himself. This was not enough for me to contact the police not enough for me to bother to do anything in fact except walk to the bike home but it got me thinking about what would have happened anywhere else like Chichester or Sudy

TIME FLIES FOR SOME

The clocks go back now I wish I had a pound for every time someone says to me that the summer has flown by. They always follow up by saying it'll be Christmas before you know it

Two men charged with robberies and burglaries

TWO MEN have been arrested and charged with a number of burglaries and robberies in Polkham, committed over a five-day period last month.

Royal Constable, 36, of Worswade and Mick Green, 45, of Letch have both been charged with committing a robbery at Fintona House, Baginbun on 26 August and burglaries at Adenishley Road, Polkham on 27 August and Downover Road, Polkham, on 28 August. Green has also been charged with a robbery at the Malpas, Polkham, on 29 August.

They were arrested at Worswade on 1 September for an unrelated offence and then questioned and charged with these offences. They appeared at Worswade Magistrates' Court on Tuesday 3 September and were remanded in custody until 10 September. Brian is still awaiting reference to the robbery that occurred at 120 on Sunday 25 August on Polkham Englands, adjacent to Longbridge (near the Lane), where a 24-year-old man was approached by two men as he walked home from his car.

They asked him if he had any money before assaulting him by punching him in the face and kicking him, causing cuts and bruising to his face and hand. He managed to escape without anything being stolen but required hospital treatment the next day for his injuries.

Anyone with information should contact Safer Polkham on 01256 200000 Operation Connect or email connect.cheshire@saferpolkham.co.uk.

Man sentenced over indecent images offences

A 30-year-old man has been sentenced after officers found he had sent images of children.

Mark Gary Matthews, 30, currently of Greenway, Baginbun, last formerly of Laurel Green, Baginbun, appeared at Cheshire Crown Court on Friday 30 August, and was sentenced to a total of eight months imprisonment.

He was also served with a Sexual Offences Prevention Order (SOPO) to not deliberately, severely mistreat his son to encourage and to children, will be required to register as a sex offender for ten years, and has been banned by the Tribunal and Bureau Services (TBS) indefinitely from any work with children.

He had pleaded guilty, at a previous hearing at this court, to making two indecent images of children, contrary to the Protection of Children Act, and with failing to disclose his computer password, contrary to the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act. He had been on court bail and has a previous history.

The prosecution, represented by the Crown Prosecution Service, began its main case, led by a solicitor by the name of Pauline O'Brien, representing the Crown Prosecution Service.

Detective Constable Glen Smith of PCUT said: "Lewis arrived at Matthews' address in Laurel Green to arrest him in December 2012 but was stopped by his partner and told the lead from his laptop, which was found to be fully encrypted.

The indecent images he was charged with making were found on a music CD used in his bedroom. Despite many opportunities he has refused to disclose the password, which is an offence in itself, and research is still necessary to break the encryption.

"As and when we are able to access his computer, and if we then find any indecent material on it, we will consider the CPS about further charges. Failing to disclose a computer password is a very serious offence, and this is the first conviction of its type in Baginbun.

"Anyone who has information about any alleged offending involving children, either current or historic, can always contact us on 01256 200000, via text or email to connect.cheshire@saferpolkham.co.uk. You can also contact independent charity CrimeStoppers anonymously via 0800 555 123.

Woman assaulted in Selsey

POLICE are appealing for two witnesses to come forward after they were in the aid of a woman who was attacked on Friday.

The incident happened at about 11.30pm on Monday 26 August on South Road in the 20-year-old motor, which was being walked along with her two young children.

A police spokesperson said: "Fortunately the victim was unharmed but this was a very frightening experience both for her and her young children who witnessed the incident.

"We have to trace anyone who was in the area at the time, and would particularly like to speak to anyone who stopped at the time to help the police.

"The offender is described as white, aged about 40, with shoulder-length hair and no English accent.

"Anyone with information to add to call police on 01256 200000, or email connect.cheshire@saferpolkham.co.uk. Alternatively, call the independent charity CrimeStoppers anonymously on 0800 555 123."

Workers in Chichester ride 23 Tour de France's in Cycle Challenge

HUNDREDS of workers in Chichester combined to ride the equivalent of 23 Tour de France's during the Chichester Cycle Challenge event.

The three-week competition between workplaces in the city aimed to introduce as many people to cycling as possible. Over 500 people from 50 different organisations took part - with almost a third of these describing themselves as 'new cyclists'.

Prizes were handed out to the workplaces who managed to get the highest proportion of employees to ride a bike for 30 minutes.

The University of Chichester were champions in the largest category - employees with over 500 staff - after encouraging one in seven workers to take part.

Other winners included:

- The Family Department, University of Chichester (200-499 category);
- South Downs National Park Authority (50-99 category);
- Express Printing Ltd, Exeter Road (10-49 category);
- Hanson Resources (Department, Chichester College) (1-9 category); and
- Beachy Trees, West Sussex County Council (50-99 category).

Ray Collins, of Express Printing Ltd, Exeter Road, said: "It was a fun initiative, everyone got involved and it brought a great atmosphere into the workplace."

"Sensibly 50 of our staff joined in with many cycling to work for the first time. Some staff even did the morning school run before returning home to jump on their bikes and ride to work."

County Council's Cabinet Member for Highways and Transport, Peter Morris, said: "Almost 5,000 journeys were recorded during the Chichester Cycle Challenge, so by our calculations the average age of one of 23 Tour de France's was borned off."

"We hope all those who took part can appreciate the benefits of cycling and keep on riding."

"Not only does it improve personal fitness, it helps to cut back on congestion and pollution too."

The full list of winners, results and prizes are available by visiting www.bicycleschool.co.uk/chichester.

The Cycle Challenge will return to Chichester next July.

In the meantime, people can register on the website, log their cycle ride and receive free money coupons they can use.

Health and Wellbeing Board signs up to Disabled Children's Charter

A PLEDGE to improve the quality of life of disabled children, young people and their families has been made by the West Sussex Health and Wellbeing Board.

A Disabled Children's Charter has been signed by the Board, which includes representatives from all bodies in West Sussex with major responsibilities for commissioning, health services, public health and social care.

Chaired by County Council Leader Louise Goldsmith, the board aims to improve the health and wellbeing of the local population and reduce health inequalities.

The charter states that over a year's time the board will have incorporated evidence that they have achieved the following goals:

- We have detailed and accurate information on the disabled children and young people living in our area, and provide public information on how we plan to meet their needs;
- We engage directly with disabled children and young people and their participation is embedded in the work of our Health and Wellbeing Board;
- We engage directly with parent carers of disabled children and young people and their participation is embedded in the work of our Health and Wellbeing Board;
- We provide advice, information and support for smooth transitions between children and adult services for disabled children and young people;
- We work with key partners to strengthen relationships between health, social care and education services, and with services provided by other partners;
- We provide evidence, information and leadership across the disabled children and young people's agenda by leading effectively with key partners.

Ms Goldsmith said: "This charter will give us clear targets to ensure we are doing all we can to support disabled children and young people to reach their full potential and that we are meeting the needs of their families as they grow and develop."

THIS SENIOR PROFESSIONAL VOCATIONAL COURSE is specifically for young people seeking professional careers in dance and the performing arts, who want to succeed in a full-time dancing career. To gain entry into the first vocational dance workshop year 18/19, outstandingly high standards are required. This course is designed to meet these standards.

The DANCEACADEMY is unique, however, in offering a training programme without having to find a private education alongside. Our specially designed curriculum totals 17M hours per week of full vocational dance training, thereby providing an equivalent training to that of a full-time Dance/Stage School. The DANCEACADEMY has the huge advantage of allowing pupils to remain in their current school environment, retaining their full education opportunities and facilities that your local school can offer. The structure of the course also allows students to stay at home, thereby happily reducing the costs to parents and making a full training programme for serious young dancers possible for more families.

The DANCEACADEMY will benefit all young people aged 12 to 18, combining a career in the performing arts and occupation for the long diversification of skills required of modern professional performers. Genres include Ballet, Modern, Tap, Contemporary Jazz, Repertoire, Historical Dance, Circus, Musical Theatre and Beyond (optional roles). This approach to dance training will keep students on a par with children studying at full-time dance/schools from the age of 11.

As well as their education in the programme, teachers at the DANCEACADEMY work closely as the professional and technical advice received vocational students. They are well versed in the demands of the profession and have a thorough knowledge of training students to the required standard.

Students will receive an assessment at the end of each year and a report detailing their progress and their ongoing suitability for the course. Academic support and ongoing nutritional advice to sustain the rigours of a dance training and to ensure a healthy dancer are given to all students.

As an exemplar of the training available at the DANCEACADEMY, The Showcase City Ballet Company have offered suitable students the opportunity to audition for a dance performance with the company in their UK tour.

Introductory price £149 per month.

Operation Watershed to re-invigorate area

HOPES are high that Operation Watershed can help volunteers to help re-invigorate a town beauty spot and stop it flooding.

Years of neglect has left South Pond polluted and overgrown with wildlife such as rabbits, weasels and badgers.

But as the water affects the water level in the pond, causing regular floods.

Disposers for the river to reduce the pond's potential, a group of volunteers formed last year as the South Pond Group to try and transform it back to its glory.

The group's objective is to turn the pond into a flowing stream to help turn the pond into a flowing stream for wildlife, full of healthy plants, invertebrates and animal life.

On other sites is to redesign problems with flooding.

Organiser Graham Ash said: "You should be able to get a pond and find it slow with dragonflies and damselflies, anemones and around the water and a healthy range of pond life.

At the moment it is very polluted and silted up and we want to do something about it."

Graham found about 1700 Ponds County Council's Operation Watershed.

Active Communities Fund, set up to help community groups improve themselves against flooding.

The group got work officers who created them as putting together a successful bid of £10,000 to the fund.

The funding will be used to design the pond as the first important step in the overall plan.

Graham said: "There are problems with flooding inside the stream that feeds into the pond."

"We also have regular flooding around the pond itself."

"We need to get the design on - the water will sit very deep and rise as easily as it will drain itself."

The design, awarded to take place in February 2013, would be the first phase of the project to restore the pond.

"Water plants would be put in place immediately after the dredging."

Long term, the ambition is to secure further funding to carry out more improvements to the pond, including replacing concrete areas damaged, improving flow through the feeder stream and installing public information boards.

The group hopes the Operation Watershed grant will unlock funds from other organisations to do this.

Graham added: "The pond itself is a very significant feature in Midhurst and a historic site."

"It was first created in 1850 and is older than most of the town."

"It is a part of the town and much more should be made of it than it is."

"We want something that the whole town can be proud of."

Elsewhere a further eight ponds have been awarded under Operation Watershed to Midhurst's town. Ponds Council, £4,999 for a new culvert in Rotherham Road, to clear gullies on the A10, and to repair pipes at the junction.

• Aldrich Parish Council, £4,999 for a project to clear ditches that open the borders of Aldrich Park;

• Sillabourne Parish Council, £4,999 to clear and improve ditches;

• Sillabourne Parish Council, £4,999 to improve road gullies and culverts under the bridge;

• Millfield Parish Council, £4,999 to supply and install affixing of lead down pipe.

• Midhurst, £4,999 to investigate and install a culvert;

• Bitcham Parish Council, £4,999 to do the job and clear Fairfield Road ditch; and

• Ovington Parish Council, £4,999 to do the job and repair Rotherham endway.

County Council Cabinet Member for Residents Services, Janet Semard, said:

"There have been some successful applications - worth £10,000 - made by groups to have Operation Watershed Active Communities Fund."

"Another 35 applications of interest have also been received, which are worth £10,000."

"So if your community has an idea which will help you prevent flooding, don't delay - get to work."

"If you would like to bid for the Active Communities Fund, discuss it with your local County Council Community and Economic Development officer."

Let your kitchen be the envy of every other room

MARLIN KITCHENS LTD - an award winning family business run by a lady design team - really takes you by surprise! Tucked away in Crane Street, Chichester (off of North Street), Marlin are really setting the standards in Chichester.

Fans like modern German kitchens to a traditional English one, in these country kitchens, Marlin have a range to suit all. You have only to read all the feedback cards and letters and look at the photos of finished kitchens to see clients to see why approximately eight of these business owners are raving. They're also not only 5* reviews online.

It is satisfying to learn that Marlin are seeing a lot of repeat customers, where people have moved home and were so impressed by Marlin's quality kitchens, customer service and organisation of the overall project, that they have come back to Marlin for another kitchen. They are now at their sixth year in Chichester and will have most of the same trades that they had when they opened. In fact one customer said, "It's like having old friends back".

Apart from the fact that Michelle and Lynn are the key designers and therefore understand the various perspectives with regards to the design, colour schemes and how practical the kitchen works, another key factor to Marlin's success is the fact that they handle the whole kitchen project, from floor to ceiling, Marlin utilise the expertise of all their own trades - nothing sub-contracted.

As word spreads about Marlin Kitchens, so too does the news they are reaching - from Brighton to Southampton and even the outskirts of London, Marlin is a quality work away top brand appliances and unusual design are second to none.

All kitchens are installed by Marlin's own experienced carpenters and registered trades. From planning, meeting suppliers, installers, replacement boilers, ranges, lighting, gas work, electrics, tiling, flooring, landscape scenery and even final clean up.

Marlin is so confident in any new project, complete project.

Comparing highly against not only the over inflated prices offered by the National Kitchen companies, but also the DIY sector with their overbearing sales, Marlin will not be beaten on quality at an affordable price tailored to meet any budget. With a free design and plan service fully fitted or a supply only everyone gets the same service.

It is easy to see why Marlin are so popular when you are in their showrooms, as it is such a friendly and calming atmosphere and Lynn, Michelle and Vicky take pride in making people feel at ease and without pressure.

There's nothing worse than being jumped on when you walk in to a shop but just as bad as being left alone without even so much as a hello. It's so nice the happy customers, asking people if they are happy to browse or whether they are looking for something specific and if they have any questions or require brochures to simply ask.

For more information, visit their website WWW.MARLINKITCHENS.CO.UK or call Marlin Kitchens on 01243 776886 or visit the showrooms at 7 Crane Street (off North Street), Chichester.

St Wilfrid's Hospice's Vintage Affair a great success!

THE VINTAGE Vintage Affair was a great success with boards of shoppers queuing up to buy all the fabulous items which have been donated to St Wilfrid's Hospice.

From the moment the doors opened at 9pm the Assembly Rooms in North Street, Chichester were packed, with more than two people standing. The event raised over £10,000 which will go to last year.

Manager of the South Street shop Lane Sturges said: "The event was a great success and I would like to thank everyone for their generous donations which made the event possible and to all the customers who supported us on the day."

"With the Goodwood Festival only a week away it was a great opportunity for people to buy their outfit at bargain prices. All the little details and accessories which finish off an outfit were available as well as the clothes themselves with everything from hats, scarves, gloves and jewellery for the ladies and bowties, ties, cufflinks and brooches for the men. There were also lots of bags, shoes, hats and accessories."

Deputies from Shopper said: "The staff bought by donations of volunteer clothes and part with I could buy more."

Travis Piter Boulton attended the event and enjoyed the great atmosphere which was enhanced by all the staff and volunteers at the event being dressed in vintage clothes. He said: "What an event! Fabulous clothes at bargain prices, no wonder it's so popular."

There was even a vintage music track to the day with music from David's Vintage Disco, and a chance to sit and have a meal with tea and coffee served on pretty crockery in the tea room.

Sturges from Chichester said: "The tea and coffee was lovely, I enjoyed the whole experience and only some good items for the vintage outfit but also some items being back. Lots of happy memories."

Angela from Waverley said: "I've been to the event and it was fantastic, we love the way everyone dressed up - it makes the atmosphere better."

Any goods from the event will be available from the St Wilfrid's Hospice shop at South Street, Chichester shop for the next two weeks.

Make this an autumn to remember with an Adult Education class!

TRADITIONALLY we think of September as the start of the new school year but it is also the start of a whole new range of exciting adult education classes run by Agape Sussex.

Over the past year Agape have provided 5,000 students with financial support to attend classes, helped 700 students to achieve their English and maths qualifications for FREE and supported over 600 students with learning difficulties to take part in courses that support their independence. With over 25,000 students taking part in other courses last year Agape are keen to make this a record year for learning.

Classes are available daytime, evening and weekends across a huge range of venues. Countywide making learning opportunities local to you.

Sue London, Agape Sussex's Learning Manager said "The range of courses this autumn is extensive, from art and crafts, languages, history, health and fitness, photography, computers, English and maths plus lots more we believe we have something to offer everyone."

Courses range from a day workshops, to 6, 10 and 20 week courses and evening qualifications.

Sue added: "We always look forward to this time of year and welcoming all students whatever their individual reason for learning. Whether you would like to gain a qualification to improve your career prospects or to learn new skills and meet new people we are committed to helping anyone achieve their aspirations."

There are still a number of places left on courses starting later this month so to find out more visit www.agapesussex.org.uk or contact 01243 610014.

Revival Golf Challenge makes popular return

FOR THE 25TH successive year Goodwood members and their guests will turn back the clock, almost 100 years to compete in the annual 'Revival Golf Challenge' with original linkstyle sketched clubs and dressed in formal period costumes on Friday 6th-September 2013.

More than 70 golfers are expected to join part in the 18th hole event played over the famous Royal designed Downes Course which celebrates its centenary next year. In fact the event has established itself as a tribute to the gentlemen who won the Open Championship 100 years on a two year period and made an enormous impact on the game during the Edwardian era.

The Goodwood members will leave their golf bags and modern day golf bags at home in favour of period tin carry bags filled with teapots, spoons and tinbells with whistling whistles and small perforated handle wheels all ground for fine tingering than their modern day counterparts.

The legendary James Braid who designed some of our courses to his short cut course was also known for his trademark towel grip and British period always worn with a collar and tie, symbols of his respect for the game.

Robert Collis, General Manager of Golf At Goodwood, said "It really is a memorable and charming day with everyone being transported back in time to enjoy golfing in a truly popular event and we look forward to meeting it for many years to come in conjunction with the Goodwood Revival motorsport meeting."

Prizes will be awarded for best dressed, best individual and team scores and following the event golfers will feast by dining close to the Revival, the world's most popular historic motor racing event and stay back in time to the 1920s, 1930s and 1950s.

One Direction - This Is Us (3D) (PG)

Follow us on Twitter

@chichesterid

THREE out of five stars

Running time: 95 minutes

Director: Morgan Spurlock

Starring: Harry Styles, Louis Tomlinson, Niall Horan, Liam Payne, Zayn Malik, Simon Cowell, Martin Scorsese, Chris Rock

One Direction - This Is Us (3D) is an entertaining concert film that does a great job of presenting the boys as likeable down-to-earth types and showcasing both their singing ability and the scale of the One Direction phenomenon, but it's also frustratingly glib and refreshingly lacks information about what's really going on behind the scenes.

What's it all about?

Directed by acclaimed documentarian Morgan Spurlock (Super Size Me), One Direction - This Is Us (3D) is a concert tour documentary following boy band and current global phenomenon One Direction (Harry Styles, Louis Tomlinson, Niall Horan, Liam Payne and Zayn Malik) over the course of their 2012-2013 world tour, during which they played more than 100 shows.

After a brief run through of their background (the boys auditioned individually for The X Factor and were put together as a band by Simon Cowell), the film settles into concert sequences of the boys performing all their latest (plus a couple of earlier) songs, such as 'Yours Truly' (sung by five) interspersed with interview snippets with each of the lads and behind-the-scenes of the band dodging fans, showering, and, amongst their security team, playing games (such as drinking up and interacting with fans while in disguise), hanging out on their tour bus and so on. There are also interview snippets with the boys' families and a handful of snippets where they pick up their boys' tows as one of their own breaks from the touring schedule.

The Good

One Direction - This Is Us (3D) does a excellent job of presenting the boys as likeable, hard working and fun loving lads who seem reasonably down to earth, under the circumstances. Similarly, the documentarian uses entertaining (enhanced by some impressive digital effects that make interviewees seem to go) and the boys' singing abilities are impressive (albeit, even if they cheerily admit that they're terrible dancers and only one member of the band (Niall) appears to be able to play an instrument).

The Bad

The problem with One Direction - This Is Us (3D) is that it's a bit (plus some) appears as the film, contrary to the usual style) isn't particularly, randomly as it comes throughout - there's no lot of music, drinking, girlfriends, gossip or parties, for example, and the boys aren't even caught in any of the scenes. Even the supposedly candid moments (such as Zayn's mother's fearful reaction after he hops her a house) are so carefully polished and emotionally manipulative (though no less effective) as a similar segment on The X Factor.

Worth seeing?

One Direction - This Is Us (3D) does a excellent job of presenting the boys as likeable and fun loving lads who seem reasonably down to earth, under the circumstances. Similarly, the

A fifth of families feud over the will of a loved one

ONE IN FIVE adults now spark family rows over the will, new research has shown. The shocking figure was revealed in a report which found millions of families end up looking over everything from property to cash, in who keeps the inheritance after the death of a relative.

The research also revealed many families end up arguing – even before a relative has died – over the will and argue second how someone should inherit.

The study of 5,000 adults by wills specialist Sister H Gordon revealed a fifth of deaths in Britain now spark a feud up between families.

Lawyer Keith Edgington said: "The death of a loved one is always a difficult time, so it is a shame that so many families end up entering further emotional trauma by becoming embroiled into disputes over a will.

Money, property and issues of inheritance value are all argued over for too frequently and these disputes have resulted in many families being torn apart with relations ruining relationships forever.

"What makes these arguments so transparent that households can usually be avoided by making sure all loved ones have an up-to-date will which leaves everyone in no doubt as to their final wishes."

It also warned one third of feuds have erupted after family members of taking care that was strictly left to them in the will following the passing of a loved one. One in four people have disagreed with how a will has been allocated, feeling certain family members were given more than they deserved.

In fact, a quarter of the study had revealed other family members or friends being more attractive to a will or final wishes and suspected they were doing this because they knew it might benefit them financially once the person passed.

The same number have actively avoided someone as a friend to avoid dealing with them, while one in twenty have had a physical fight with someone as a friend or wife.

While one in five feuds has someone they no longer talks to after things went sour following the death of a loved one.

More than half the study felt that if you do create for yourself in their life you become entitled to more in their will.

Mr Edgington added: "Disputes over a will can create long term problems with potentially countless who suspect they're entitled to something others because of the new relationship to the deceased or the new they get on at their final days."

"But these feelings are usually subjective and why some people place the importance of leaving a thorough will to ensure their loved one's wishes are clear."

"There are general misconceptions that making a will should only be relevant when someone makes it at an emotional point. But a will is not just about dividing up money and assets, it's also important to set out the final wishes of the deceased, the could extend to who should look after surviving children, when the loved one should live or who should inherit sentimental items or life insurance policies.

"It is also important that people make their wishes known to their loved ones before they die to allow everyone to fully understand the wishes people behind the will and are relations from potential arguments."

First-time buyers lending at highest level since 2007

L202B212 to first-time buyers has risen to its highest quarterly total since 2007. It is now exceeding the first-time buyers in the second quarter of 2007, according to figures released by the CML.

This increase, along with growth in lending to home owners, has resulted in a jump in total house purchase lending. Mortgage lending dipped back in June compared to May, although continues to trend above levels seen this year.

First-time buyers

Our data shows that 25,000 loans were advanced to first-time buyers in June, a 30% increase on the 19,000 loans advanced in June last year. Following the strength in first-time buyers activity in May and June, quarterly lending to first-time buyers was at its highest since 2007.

First-time buyers continued to increase the amount they borrowed – with an average loan size of £209,000 in June up from £200,000 in May. As a result of this there has been a stronger growth in the value of loans advanced to first-time buyers which totalled £5.1bn, an increase of 3% in value compared to May and 30% on June last year.

This solid year is consistent with the growth in loans prior to recent months – in June 2011 lenders advanced less than £400m, down from 20% in May.

While first-time buyers borrowed more in June, an increase in interest rates, along with falling interest rates, means that there has been no deterioration in the affordability of these loans compared to first-time buyers mortgage payments remained 20% of first-time buyers income – unchanged from May.

We have previously noted a small increase in the average LTV ratio for loans advanced to first-time buyers. The latest figures show that it has dropped back to 80%. However the average for the second quarter, which will be disclosed by month end, has increased slightly – up to 81% from 80% in previous quarters.

First-time buyers accounted for 40% of all house purchase loans in June, which was up from 38% in May and remains slightly higher than the 39% seen on average since 2007.

Home owners

Lending to home owners continued to grow on a year-on-year basis, albeit at a slower rate than for first-time buyers. Some 30,000 loans were advanced to home owners in June, a 5% increase compared to June last year. The value of these loans totalled £3.1bn.

For the second quarter of the year ended, 89,000 loans were advanced to home owners which was an increase of 20% on the first quarter of 2013 and up 4% on Q1 last year.

Home owners lending

The home purchase market continued to support overall growth in June and the second quarter as a whole.

A total of 40,000 loans were advanced for house purchase in the second quarter, up by 30% compared to the first quarter of 2013 and up 10% on the same period last year. In June, 65% of the worth of loans were advanced, which was an increase of 50% compared to June last year.

Remortgage lending

While remortgage lending dipped in June, growth in the first two months of the quarter resulted in an increase in the second quarter compared to quarter one.

Remortgage lending continued to trend above last year's levels (based on both the second quarter and the first half), although remains at least compared to historical levels.

Interest rates

Recent falls in interest rates have contributed to a record take-up of fixed rate mortgages.

June which represents 10% of all mortgage uptake at any point in the last six years.

Fixed mortgage take-up alone represented 40% of the lending for housing advance in the second quarter, an increase on the first half of 2013. This was a decrease on the first half of 2012, but a 20% increase on the first half of 2011. This is well below the 40% record peak last August and below the previous record low of 30% at the end of 2011.

Paul Davis, director general of the Council of Mortgage Lenders, commented: "First-time buyers have become a strong driver in the growth of mortgage lending this year, proving that market conditions are favourable for them."

"With increased interest in home buyers' ability to cope with the current rate of interest rates, it is particularly reassuring to see borrowers choosing to fix their payments and for longer to record numbers."

Itchenor Sailing Club celebrates 50 years of the Mirror over August Bank Holiday weekend

MEMBERS of all ages at Itchenor Sailing Club celebrated 50 years of the Mirror over the sunny August Bank Holiday weekend with both a regatta and a special "Hoisting Goss" race.

The Itchenor Mirror fleet responded enthusiastically to the good weather and sailing opportunities over the weekend, with a good turnout of 54 Mirrors participating in Sunday's BSC Regatta. The Race Officer set three races round a windward-leeward course in the harbour, which saw plenty of opportunities for plan changing on both boats and race. Tom Pearson and Paddy Jefferys in Transwark took an early lead which they managed to hold on to, though they were being chased down on each leg by Emily Heath and Monty Heath in Zoniik. They were closely followed by parent and child teams; Richard and Alice Dillards and Barney and Rebecca Harding.

On Bank Holiday Monday the BSC

Mirror fleet proved the continuing vitality of the Mirror with its "Anything Goes" race. A well supported event saw 47 boats participating and the theme was to sail with some line daisy down cushions on display, plus all sorts of wonderful contributions in the boats, challenging the age 16 Mirror should be sailed two up.

Prize giving was followed by family lunches on the lawn, looking to the relaxing June quarter. Copies of the Daily Mirror and lots of confetti were added to the regeneration of both head and participants making up part of the end of an energetic and fun weekend.

The Mirror was designed by Jack Hale and Barry Packard in 1964. With its distinctive red sail, the Mirror is one of the most successful dinghy classes ever designed and more than 70,000 have been sold across the globe. Many of Itchenor's top sailors have learnt to sail in a Mirror.

Out of date maps cause one in three UK drivers to arrive late DRIVERS in the UK continue to drive with out-of-date maps, causing them to be late on a regular basis, according to research from the Times.

From weddings to family holidays, more than one in three drivers have been late for a big occasion and 30 per cent of motorists have underestimated how long a journey would take - making them late for business presentations, work events and even flights.

As per cent of people using a paper map say they get lost on a car journey. That map not be surprising as one in four (25 per cent) motorists refer to a map that is more than three years old. Just over 10 motorists have a map that is less than 12 months old.

The research among more people showed that virtually everyone who owns a sat nav agreed to make them more confident when they're going and leads to less arguments in the car. But as per cent of drivers admitted that the maps on their sat navs are never updated or are out of date.

Britain's road network changes by up to up to 100 a year yet it seems that many motorists used by drivers are years out of date - according on them to find your way around could cost you both time and money," says a TomTom spokesman.

However, it's just as important to keep the map up-to-date on your sat nav - which is why all TomTom sat navs come with the new 2013 version now comes with four complete map updates every year, usually free, for the lifetime of the product.

Other benefits included 30% but there may other following someone else's directions.

30% have been writing being directed by a person in their car.

10% have missed the start of a wedding because they misheard their journey.

10% have been late for a friend for the same reason.

20% got lost after stopping and asking someone for directions.

10% use a sat nav for directions compared with 10% relying on help from a fellow passenger, although 10% still use an old-fashioned map.

"More motorists now use sat navs than don't use them, so they're becoming an essential accessory for millions of car owners," added the TomTom spokesman.

Improving national football

Johnny Cantor

WELL, IT BE RED, will it be white, will it be light blue, will it be faded grey? It's a question I've toyed every time England play. The colour of the shirt that is. This week a far deeper shade of question has been debated by players, managers, journalists and of course parents. How do we improve the national game and the national team? The man who hopes to find the remedy is Craig Dyke. Can he succeed? It all lies at the steeped in football history but that's what

In a bad thing, it's done less sport though. I had the fortune to play a few cricket matches with him in the past and despite his fitting sports cricket whites he was energetic, passionate and determined to win. His name serves as a guarantee, and that may be his biggest asset in the coming years.

There are so many layers to the debate as to why England have failed at big tournaments (and perhaps just as warning, struggled to qualify). It's difficult to answer the ultimate question but that week I've been struck by a few concerns. The most notable was that one national journalist Jimmy Haden who rightly pointed out that if English players were regular football, why don't they go down? Cultural differences maybe a factor and despite my best of you mind I wouldn't put it like some it should be considered.

Here is Stuart's idea for doing their part to help the strategy regarding a light future for clubs and country. They also have a Head Coach who knows full well the issues facing working with the youth teams and youth set up at European. And they're professional soccer players over the last few years. World leaders in fact.

City go out on penalties

Saturday 30 August 2013
John D'Arcy's League Cup Round 2
Greenock Morton v City of Glasgow

By Charles Henderson

CHIEF EXECUTIVE were accurate away from getting their first victory of the season at Greenock, only to concede two late goals and eventually lose in a penalty shootout.

The match had started badly for City, immediately from the kick-off Greenock scored a quick move down the right wing and Ben Greenstein struck from a penalty with only a few seconds on the clock.

But City then started to play fluently and eventually Greenock goalkeeper Ben Wood was forced to concede a goal after an on-air, and with the hosts unable to produce any late passing moves it was City who appeared the more dangerous side.

Eight minutes after the interval, City were awarded a free-kick on the edge of the box and John Cox dispatched the equaliser.

City then took the lead on six minutes with Joe Crockett taking advantage of confusion in the Greenock defence, and four minutes later a poor pass down in opposition allowed Crockett to strike again and make it 3-1.

Greenock were accurately during the game throughout the first 45 minutes and they were rewarded on 55 minutes when Scott Taylor's corner was headed in by Carrigan.

Substitute Elliott Wood then fired over with the Green going for penalties, and as stoppage time Chris Farnham completed the last group run which after a short time from a throw in.

Both teams failed to produce any goals, and despite being the first team to register a goal, Greenock went into the 45th minute.

"We played really well," said City boss John Scott. "You saw in the first 45 minutes but we then dominated the game until the last 10 minutes.

"They are a strong team with a lot of players," commented Perry on the opposition. "They just pushed everything forward and dominated us."

"We may have some of our own little extra experience, but the experience we received with results of injury time and I don't know where that came from."

"We were the better side again in extra time but when things aren't going for you, you know what will happen in a shoot-out."

City: Carter, J. Scott, Madden, Smith, Hibbert, Cox, Green, Blackford, Crockett, van Driel, Henry, Storer, Price, Lambert, McInnes.

Argyle held as City get point

FOOTBALL

South West Combination League
City of Glasgow v Plymouth Argyle

CHIEF EXECUTIVE CITY (13) gained a point in their first match of the season in the South West Combination League as they held Plymouth Argyle to a 1-1 draw.

Plymouth finished thirteenth in the division last year and have started the season as one of the favourites to climb the table, while City are situated in the mid-table of the league having been crowned from the South East Combination League.

The game started brightly with both sides meeting the ball well through their respective squares with neither attemping any early set-piece proceedings. Argyle's initial intent was to allow City to retain possession within their own half and allowing the Silfverstam to maintain with the passing style they have become renowned for. Soon into the match City had a flurry of attacks against the Plymouth goal but failed to convert and had a clear cut penalty denied as Peter got taken to the ground as the box.

With neither side willing to concede possession the match was played mostly in the middle third with 11 attacks and five returns 11 goals, with City able to control play.

Soon after half time the City defence held strong and Plymouth probed the defence and took a corner and goal. As the match progressed both sides became frustrated and some poor challenges were made. City's defence pushed up from the City defence, the goalkeeper over load in midfield allowed City to pass a strong free kick into the Plymouth half.

The pressure held in the game and when the goalkeeper came. This was a tactical delivery from the back, which was set up to the back post and the ball in the box first corner goal and the goalkeeper took the move of several times the clock ran out as City goalkeeper pushed hard for the winner and the match finished 1-1.

A bright start for City as they were on the road next week to face Plymouth Argyle.

City: Scott, McInnes, Hughes, Jones, McGlashan, Alexander, Taylor, Powell, Hibbert, Whitehouse, Ford, Challen, Strachan, Baker, Richardson, Simpson, Hirst, Tower, Evans.
